Ladies and Gentlemen,

Half of year has passed and much has happened. After completing the merger of Maas High Tech Software GmbH with the OXSEED Aktiengesellschaft, we now gratefully look back to our first joint event. Our customer event, OXCHANGE, was a success attracting more than 100 visitors and the demand for the topic "Software as a Service" was high. For this reason, we gladly send you our news, especially because companies currently need to lower costs and optimize processes more effectively. In this newsletter, you can read more about how OXSEED can help you in this matter.

Have fun reading!

- NEWS

New location for more customer proximity

As already announced at the OXCHANGE 2009, we have opened a new sales and consulting location on July 1, 2009 in Ulm to service our customers in southern Germany. We are happy to have Mr. Stefan Geiger taking the responsibility as managing director. As a result, interested parties and customers will benefit from shorter distances, quicker service, and more customer proximity.

Improving OXSEED Support – adding a new hotline

We know what you demand: Quick answers to your questions, and in case of problems - competent support and immediate implementation. For this reason, we have further improved our OXSEED Support and have now installed a support hotline, which you can reach under +49 (0) 521-977 933 177. Quicker, more professional, and better – this is how our support presents itself. We are looking forward to servicing you. ...you can find more information here...

Exchange of experience and information at the SaaSKON 2009

The topic "Software as a Service" has been intensively discussed at the SaaSKON. Developing your enterprise requires answers to the questions: What are the business benefits of SaaS, where do SaaS and Cloud Computing overlap, and how can you obtain an economic and efficient implementation of these solutions. Join the discussion, when users and providers sit together and experience the solutions of OXSEED at first hand. Take the opportunity of the knowledge transfer in Stuttgart. ...you can find more details here...

THE GREEN LINE Nellen & Quack sends invoices via OXSEED

Very early, the business and finance management of THE GREEN LINE Nellen & Quack have recognized that industries with heavy paper work, such as the logistics industry, could achieve high cost savings by moving to an electronic billing process. But would it be possible to convince customers to accept receiving digital invoices. Nellen & Quack sent a flyer to their customers and, at an event together with OXSEED, they informed them about their plans. On account of the many personal conversations held on phone, the positive feedback has surpassed all expectations. Because efforts are reduced not only for the sender, but also for the recipient. Electronic invoice receipt using OXSEED Invoices

Thousands of paper invoices arrive on each single day at the various types of companies and lead to a long-running and cost-intensive invoice processing. OXSEED Invoices gives you the opportunity, to digitize your invoice handling processes, such as verification, examination, approval, data transfer for posting, and the archival of vouchers. Your data flow is thus accelerated, the quality and up-to-dateness of data is improved, and the costs of invoice processing are drastically lowered. Discover how to upgrade your accounting system and get the information about OXSEED Invoices.

More functions, more advantages – The latest release of AFP2web® 3.3

AFP2web® is your tool for multi-channel re-use and follow-on processing of your archival and print data. This transformation solution has been equipped with extended features for you. ...you can find more information here...

Docutec & OXSEED – Time savings by using the “OXSEED Mailroom”

In the future, mail to the enterprise will no longer be delivered on paper, but instead, in digital format. Because of the On Demand solution „OXSEED Mailroom“, OXSEED and Docutec make it possible for their customers to completely delegate the handling of incoming mail to an external services provider. Both enterprises have combined their competency. For more information about Docutec and the joint solution with OXSEED.
