OXSEED restructures the on demand offering

Ladies and Gentlemen

Another year marked by challenge and change is coming to an end. Ever-increasing technical requirements and decreasing budgets – the answer to this and to future problems are the on-demand solutions offered to you by OXSEED.

We are looking forward to the highlights of the coming year – one of them being the CeBIT 2011, which stands under the motto "Work and Life with the Cloud". Come to Hannover to experience OXSEED from March 1st to 5th!

In addition we would like to welcome you at our customer event OXCHANGE in September 2011. Here, all participants, who are either interested in SaaS or users of OXSEED solutions, once again have the opportunity to meet experts and to discuss about Enterprise Content Management, Enterprise Document Transformation, and other topics related to SaaS.

The prospects of the new year are promising. With all this in mind, we wish you a pleasant Advent, a merry Christmas, and a successful and happy new year.

OXSEED starts new projects at the end of the year

Delticom AG decides once again to use OXSEED

The Delticom AG in Hannover, Europe's leading tire retailer in the Internet, decided as early as November 2009 to use the OXSEED Archive, which has already stored about 1,3 million invoices into the archive. This year, Delticom decided to simplify the processing of incoming invoices by using OXSEED Invoices. For more information...

In the future, the logistics company Spedition Weisshaupt will work mainly with OXSEED Archive

As many other logistics companies, the Spedition Weisshaupt faces the challenge of handling a continuously growing mountain of paper and an increasing amount of vouchers. For this reason, the privately owned company located in Albstadt ordered OXSEED Archive in October 2010. For more information, continue reading...

OXSEED was able to convince John Spedition GmbH

By June this year, the John Spedition, which also acts as a shareholder of the Cargoline group, found the archival and billing solution of OXSEED to be convincing and ordered OXSEED Archive and Billing. To learn more about how to reduce the costs of administration, material, paper, postage, and also how to preserve the environment, continue reading here.

CUSTOMER REPORTS

active logistics decides in favor of OXSEED Archive

OXSEED viewed the following as the challenging part of the project: It was necessary to separate the old archival system from a multitude of applications and to exactly fit in the new archive. The migration project was preceded by a feasibility study of the technical concept. Hereby, the task was to convert various document formats of the old archive to the PDF/A format, to attach a digital signature and to archive the document in the new system.

The new archival system will be productive by January 2011. The last series of production tests will have then taken place, and the migration of the documents from the old archive will be complete. For more information please click here...

Oriented towards customer requirements, OXSEED restructures the on demand offering

When our new OXSEED release becomes due in 2011, we shall restructure our on-demand offering to better meet the requirements of a developing market and the needs of our customers.

In doing so, we put the emphasis on improving our OXSEED Editions. When providing the encompassing OXSEED-Platform for Enterprise Content Management and Enterprise Document Transformation, a stronger focus will be laid on the actual usage. For more information please click here...
