Every day uncountable documents are generated in all sorts of file formats and in all kinds of companies. To be able to work with and to archive these documents centralized, there is the need of converting them to a universal format.

Working together with customers we continuously strive to replace the patchwork conversion solutions with one consolidated solution for Enterprise Document Transformation. Throughout the version history of the AFP2web® software the broad range of input formats for documents which are converted to a growing number of output formats increased.

CUSTOMER REPORTS

HALLESCHE Krankenversicherung migrates to a digital processing of claims

Since the year 2003, the software of OXSEED supports the insurance company's handling of about 3500 claims per day. First, OXSEED sorts the electronic documents into the folders of the insured people and then distributes them to the workbaskets for incoming mail for the claims adjusters.

Served on demand.

Subsequently, the claims adjuster can use the application "OXSEED I-VIEW", an application integrated in the claims processing system, to view and process the line items of individual documents of the claim. They investigate the claims which are made, add notes to a document and split and associate invoices charge amounts to their respective areas. They finally send the settlement information for further processing to the claims processing system.
